

Aline Prinz

UX Designer & UX Researcher

SUMMARY

Speaking of UX Design, the most fascinating thing for me is the combination of psychology, creative work, and technology. My love for details and the urge to create user-oriented experiences are the foundation for my work. Based on the wish to create human-centered experiences, I am more than ready to make a difference in a dynamic team that considers the client's satisfaction most essential and allows me to create solutions that will have users pausing to say: „that was one of the best experiences I ever had.“
